CFI SPEAKERS 2014

Suzanne O'Sullivan

Graduated from University College Dublin in 1992 and trained at the Mater Hospital and the National Maternity Hospital, Holles St. before moving to the Rosie Maternity Hospital in Cambridge where she started her specialist training.

She returned to Holles St in 1998 for 2 years clinical research into female incontinence and pelvic floor dysfunction with Dr. Declan Keane. She completed her specialist training in the UK and gained further specialist training in urogynaecology. She was appointed consultant at the Royal Bournemouth and Poole NHS Trusts in 2002 where she developed the urogynaecology unit as well as running the high risk antenatal service for Bournemouth.

She has worked in Cork University Maternity Hospital since 2006 Dr. Barry O'Reilly in running the Urogynaecology department which has been designated a European Centre of Excellence by the European Urogynaecology Association. She has written peer reviewed articles and presented many papers at national and international conferences. Alongside general obstetrics and gynaecology, she has special expertise in female incontinence, prolapse and perineal injury following childbirth.

Oliver Dolly

Professor J. Oliver Dolly is a molecular neurobiologist, whose area of expertise encompasses many aspects of communication in the nervous system.

After obtaining a B.Sc. and M.Sc. in Biochemistry at University College Galway, Oliver moved to the U.K. for Ph.D. training. The subsequent award of a fellowship from the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America led to 3 years post-doctoral work in the University of Buffalo, before being appointed to a faculty position at the University of Maryland, Baltimore.

On the invitation of Professor Eric Barnard, FRS, this progressive Galway man joined the academic staff of the Biochemistry Department at Imperial College London and went on to become Professor of Molecular Neurobiology. After 27 years there, where he directed a well-funded Centre for Neurobiochemistry, the award of a prestigious Research Professorship by Science Foundation Ireland attracted him back to Ireland. Here he has secured additional long-term funding from Allergan Inc. and the U.S. Government, and established an International Centre for Neurotherapeutics as a platform for promoting inter-disciplinary collaboration between researchers and industrial partners, both at home and abroad.
